Inspector - Bactoforce Nordic Oy

To be responsible for carrying inspection activities primarily in Finland, Bactoforce is now looking for an independent and self-motivated person preferably to be home based around Tampere .

Bactoforce is today the leading supplier of integrity inspections of processing equipment in the food sector, and we are today servicing some of the leading food brands in Europe. In response to a growing interest from Finland and the Baltics, we are establishing a local subsidiary with the aim to be able to serve the local food sector from a local presence.

For more information about the company and our activities, please visit www.bactoforce.com.

Your primary activity will be to perform inspections in the area, but in addition, you will participate in building up and maintaining customer relations. As we are expecting to expand our activities in Finland and the Baltics, you will also be involved in the general development of the local operation in cooperation with the team in Bactoforce Nordic.

Your profile:

- Relevant education in food technology, incl. having a good understanding of production processes / -equipment and microbiology
- Experience in food production, preferably from the dairy sector
- An open mind to solving challenges and meeting new people
- A proven ability to work independently and to manage own tasks

Your primary responsibilities will be:

- Performing inspections in Finland, Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania and occasional support to other areas
- Participate in planning/ coordination of inspections
- Participate in ongoing business development of our local activities

We offer:

In the position as Inspector in Bactoforce, you will join a team of experienced and motivated people in an expanding company. Your point of reference will be to Regional Manager of Bactoforce Nordic. You will gain a broad network in the food sector. Bactoforce offers a position with opportunities to participate in and influence the development of the local activities. External courses with certification and internal training program will be given as a part of the introduction.
